DETAILS

The site is located on Willow Road in the London Borough of Camden. Willow Road is situated to the north east of Hampstead High Street and to the south west of Hampstead Heath. The surrounding area is principally residential with terraced houses bordering and facing the site on Willow Road. The building was originally a house that was converted into 3 flats. Our client acquired the properties to convert the flats back into a house. The need to replace the deteriorating conservatory offers the occupants the opportunity to upgrade security and create a safer environment. The proposed Kitchen extension will be of a modern construction; with good levels of insulation. The house will enjoy a greater connection to their garden and the new folding doors will help to enhance this connection by allowing more of the daily rituals to be undertaken at this end of the building.
