

The project is located in an elegant area of Knightsbridge, in the west-end of London and forms part of The Halkins that requires investment and renovation because it represents an anomaly within the neighbourhood. The aim of the redevelopment is to create an integrated design that respectfully reinterprets the modern townhouse aesthetic by dilapidating timber and brick facade replaced by new High quality cladding materials according to 'development plan' of Westminster.

The scheme has been designed to meet Lifetimes Homes standards, Code for sustainable homes (Level 4) and Eco-homes compliance. The project has studied different options: renovation and extension of 3 existing houses and conversion of 2 existing properties into 3/4 flat building plus an eventual extension in the communal garden of the Estate and re-design of Estate amenity place including remodelling of path, parking area and green walls.
